

Tang Kuei Herbal Mixture Tablets

Herbalife has created this special formula to help with the challenges associated with strenuous physical exercise, and for women of child-bearing age.

Throughout your life, your body goes through amazing changes. Hormonal shifts, pregnancy, mood swings, loss in bone density and weight fluctuations, to name a few. Add to this your family's needs and your career, and there's little time left to take care of yourself.

While we recognise that we can't replace your lost rest and relaxation, we can replace your lost nutrients. The result? You'll feel as great as you'll look. So, even if you're not a child anymore, that doesn't mean you can't feel like one.

Herbalife knows just how to help

Tang Kuei Herbal Mixture Tablets

Tang Kuei combines Angelica sinensis and Chamomile, providing a superior nutritional tonic, to assist in balancing the body's systems.

Tang Kuei is made from the root of the Angelica sinensis herb. The root is preferred because it provides naturally occurring quantities of calcium which helps to maintain normal muscle tone, B vitamins, iron, magnesium and essential oils.

Men and women have known about Tang Kuei for many centuries, using it after strenuous physical exertion to assist relief of challenges associated with tense, taut muscles.

Women of child-bearing age undergo hormonal changes that may cause a range of minor discomforts. The gentle herbal properties of Tang Kuei encourage the body to restore natural balance.
